Assignment#4                                                    Akhil Suryadevara
                                                                A20391322
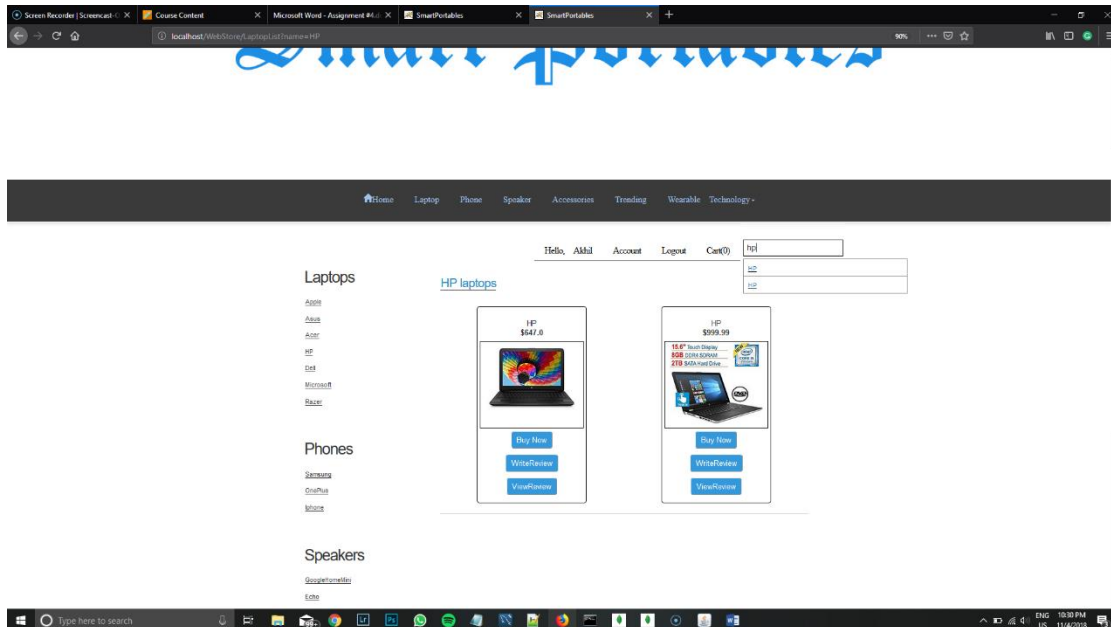

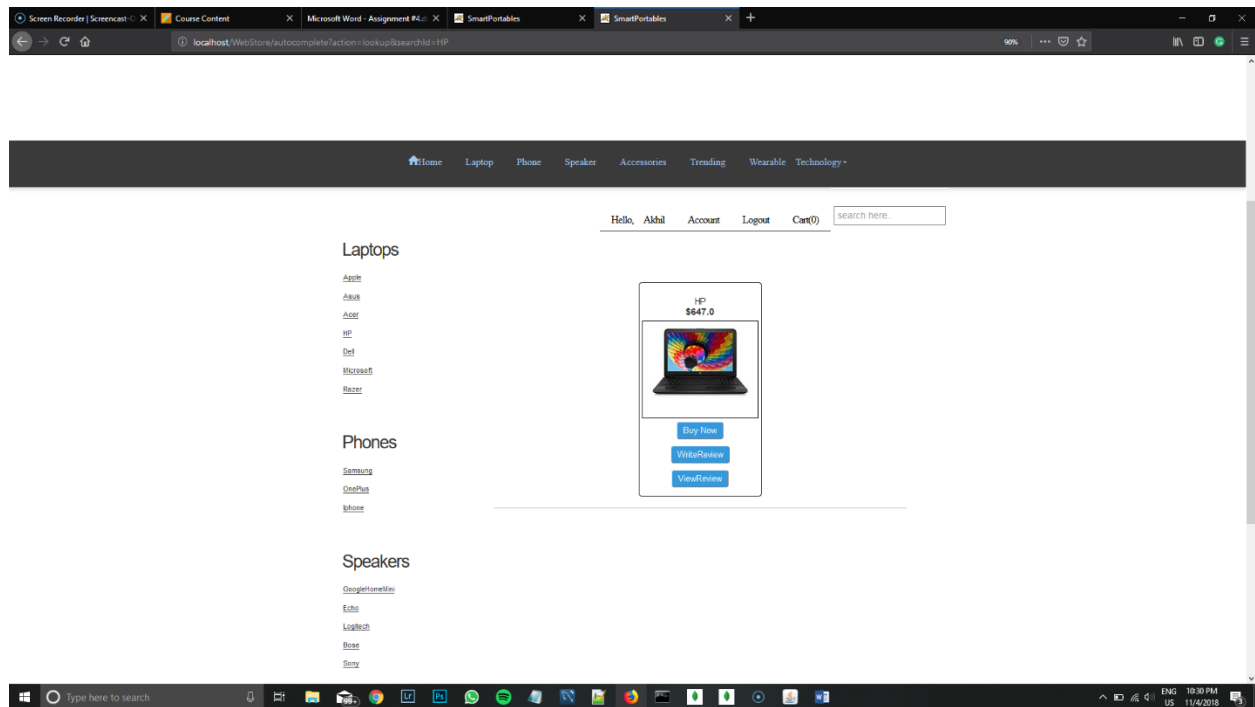

First entering homepage

Then I clicked on HP in the left navigation bar to check how many hp products are there

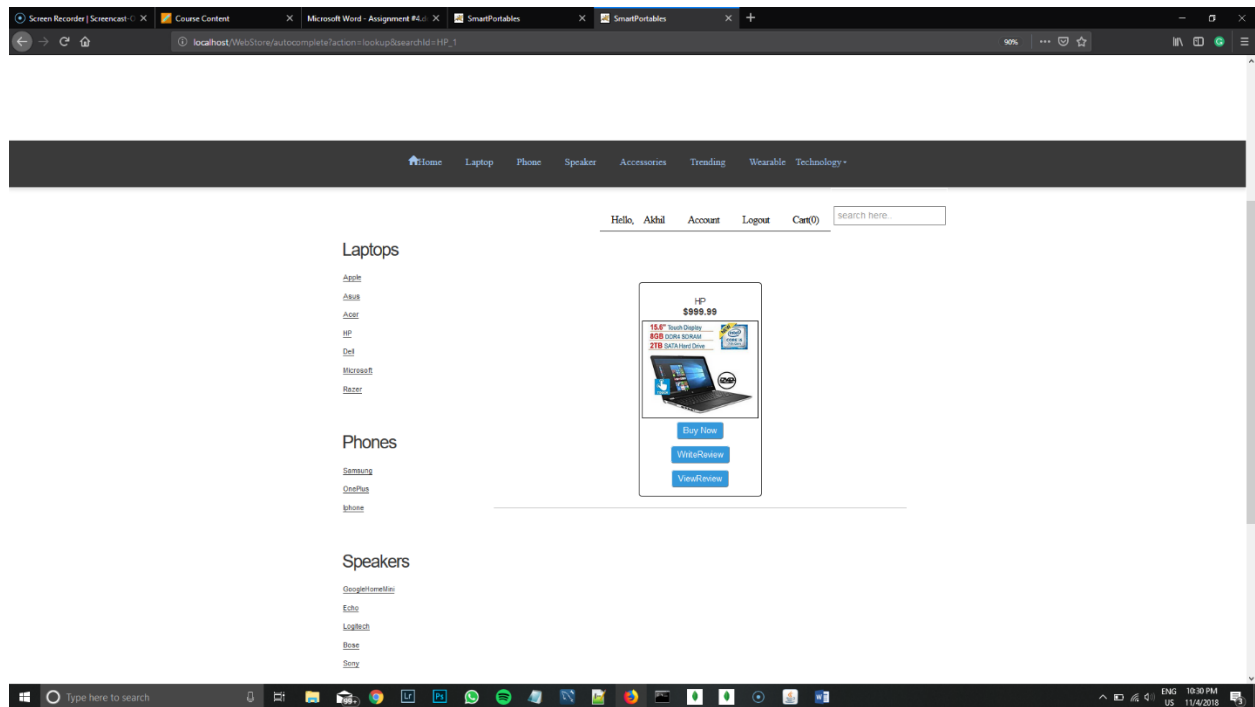

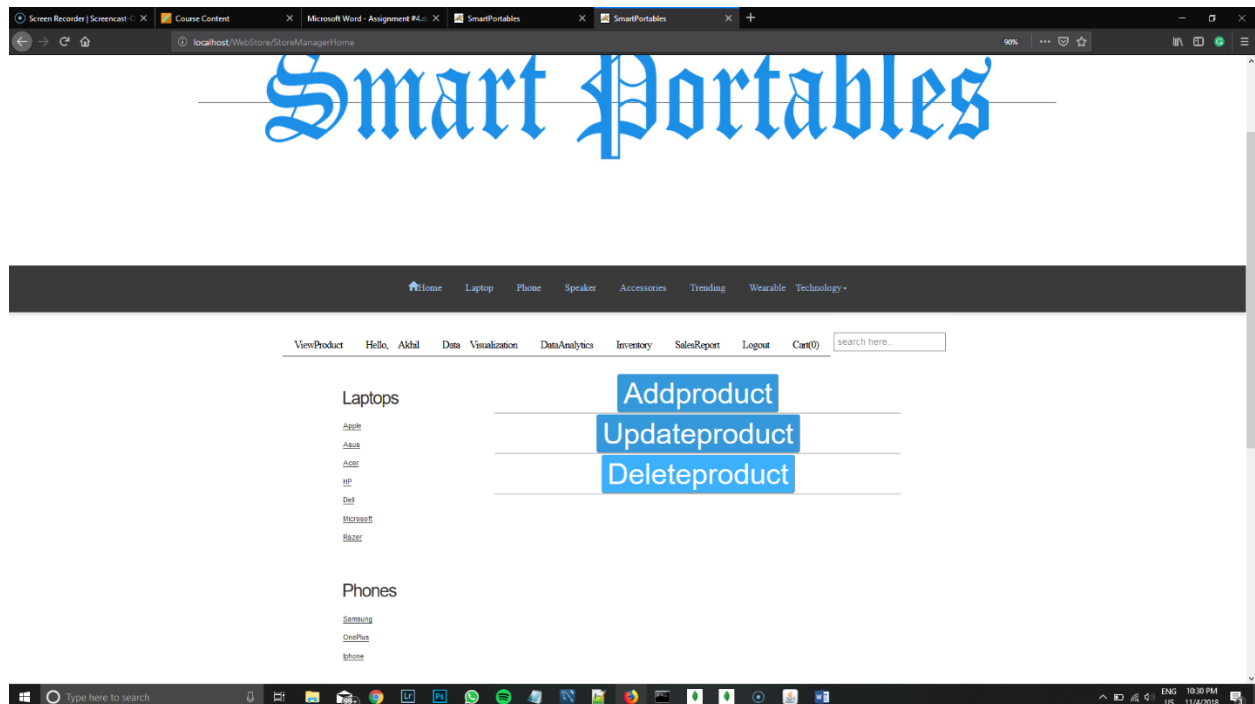

Now typing "HP" on search bar shows two products.

Since the names are similar it shows HP two times. But clicking on first HP shows first HP product.

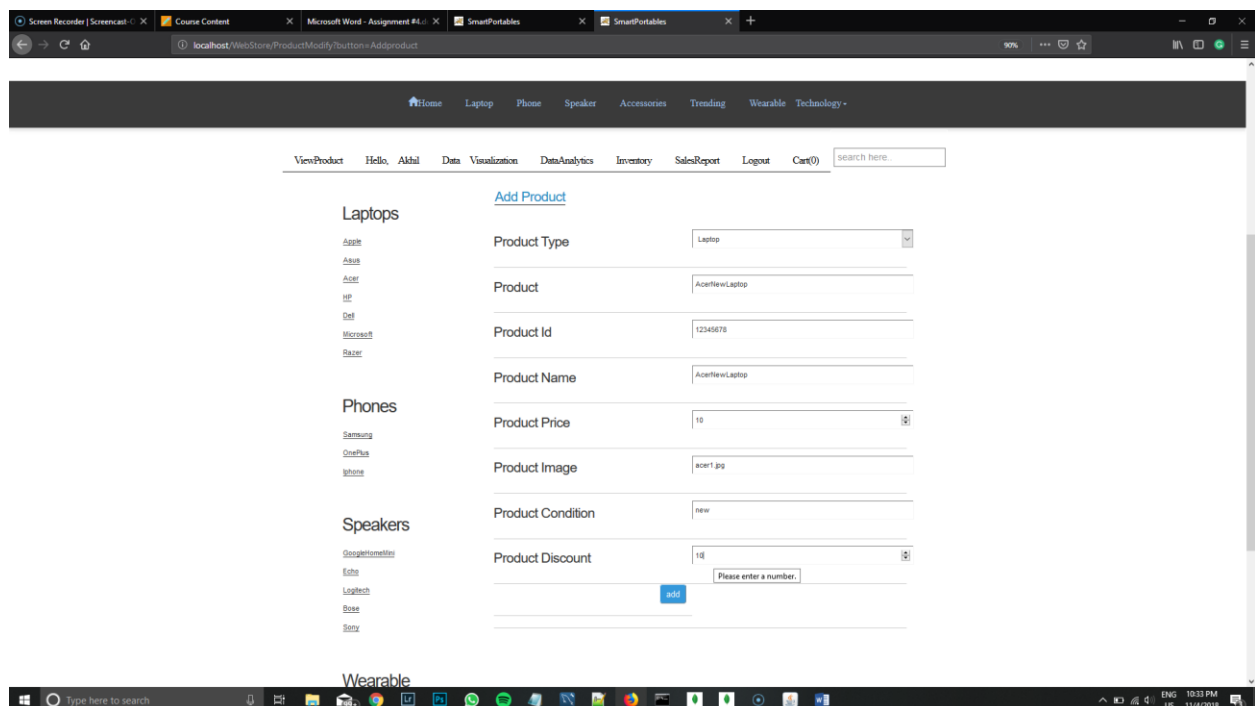

Clicking on second HP in search bar shows second HP product

Now logged in as a store manager to add a product and check whether it is reflecting in search bar or not.

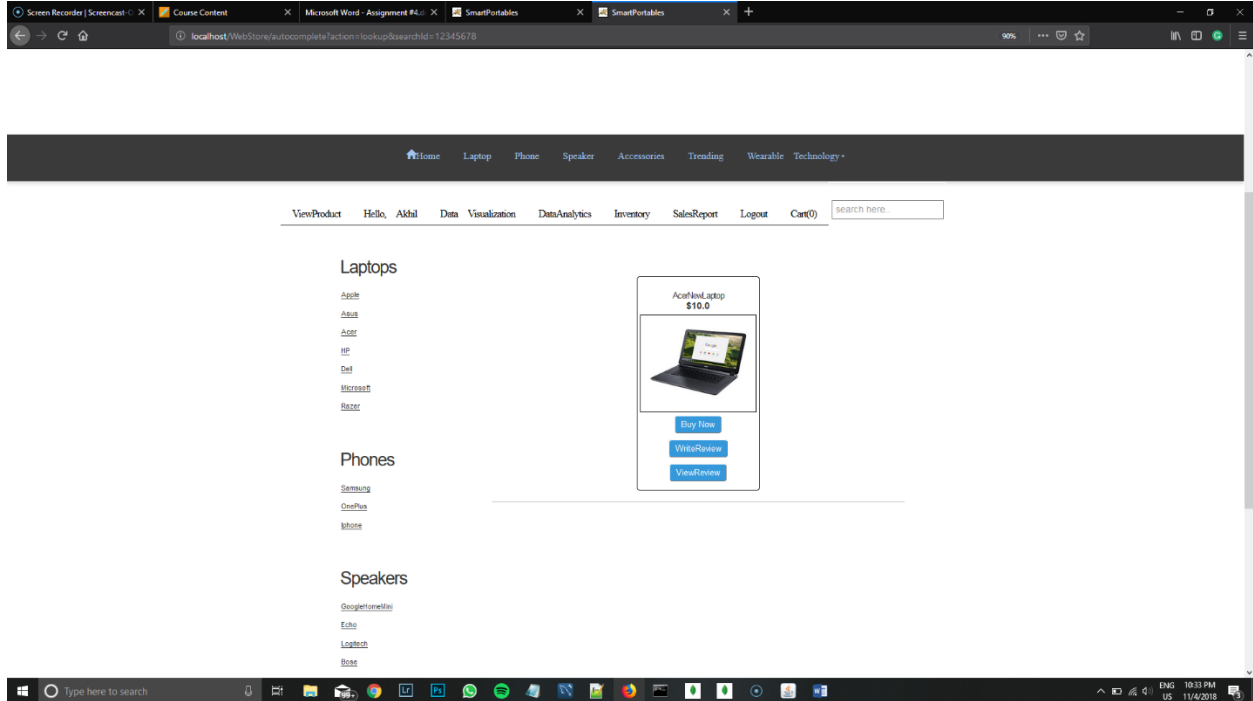

Adding product with the following details

After product has been added and when typed the newly created laptop name on search bar. It shows the new laptop name on the autocomplete feature

Upon clicking shows the newly created laptop.

Now the product is deleted

Upon typing that product name in search bar, it doesn't appear anymore.
